The location of Bunia, Ituri, DR Congo, situated at 1.5662° N, 30.2426° E, presents a favorable environment for year-round solar energy generation. This tropical location benefits from consistent sunlight throughout the year, with seasons primarily characterized by wet and dry periods rather than significant temperature variations.

This is a project to monitor a solar installation and a Battery Bank (Lithium Battery Packs). It traces current individually for each Battery Pack and communicates with solar charger. It is an experiment to check the behaviour and lifetime of Li-ion battery packs (BMS included) connected in parallel in a solar installation.

A servo is used to actuate the panel tracker; these are available in a broad range of sizes and can be scaled according to your panel size. Although this tracker is single axis, the two sensors and servo can simply be duplicated to provide dual axis control.

We built a Yaholnitsky solar oven and decided to add an automatic sun tracking system. It uses an Arduino Uno and follows the sun around during the day, so that the person on cooking duty doesn't have to attend to the oven. Four endstops provide security in case the sun moves out of the movement range of the mirror.
