I had a 3 phase supply and a small by today's standards 3.4kW system on only 1 phase installed in 2011. When the time came to upgrade the solar in Feb 2023, I decided to drop to a single phase system (2 of the 3x 25mm² XLPE cables disconnected behind the meter) as all the 3 phase inverter and battery options seemed too prohibitively expensive.

Let's start with some basics. If you are testing with a voltmeter, you may not be able to tell if you have single phase, two phase, or three phase. I've read where the Philippines has two different standards. Rural is two wire L-N, at 230 VAC single phase. Larger older cities are L1-L2 240VAC single phase with neutral center tap.

Fig.1 and Fig.2 show the output characteristic of the charger, and the example of the charging curve.. Big current flows in early stages of the charge, at this time the state of voltage is low.. As the charge proceeds, the current decreases automatically and the voltage increases.
