How much does a 5 kWp solar system cost?

In some cases, a 5 kWp solar PV array will be sufficient to meet those energy demands. A 5 kWp solar system will typically require around 15 solar panels at 350W each and cost between £8,000 to £12,000. *The figures in this table are calculated based on 350W solar panels and the national average household energy consumption (2022).

Is there VAT on solar panels?

No VAT for Solar Panels or Solar Batteries! It's fair to say that despite the government's best efforts, most of the official incentives are opaque at best. It's worth taking time to understand the current rules, pitfalls, and loopholes.

What is a 5 kWp solar PV array?

*kWp stands for 'kilowatt peak'. This is the amount of power that a solar panel or array will produce per hour in prime conditions. If you have a larger home with around four residents you will need to install a larger PV array. In some cases, a 5 kWp solar PV array will be sufficient to meet those energy demands.

How much energy does a solar system produce?

How much energy you use: A decent solar system can produce up to 70% or more of the power you need. If you end up paying for a system that exceeds those needs, expect a larger initial investment and potentially a longer pay-back period.

Do solar batteries get VAT exemption?

One incentive that's fairly straightforward is the government's list of energy-saving materials that benefit from VAT relief. Up until Feb 2024, you would only get VAT exemption for batteries when installed in combination with solar panels. Now, retrofitted, and stand-alone solar battery installations will benefit from a 0% rate of VAT.

Electricity cost reduction through the use of a 20kW solar PV system also supports the government's vision of a reform to a green power economy. The use of heat and power created independently, along with the Smart Export Guarantee, makes it beneficial for those who want to reduce their utilization of regular electricity services and save money.

Discover the ultimate benefits of a 16kW solar system - a powerful choice for energy independence, substantial savings, and sustainability. Ideal for large homes, businesses, and agriculture, this system meets high energy demands while reducing carbon footprints.
